THAT KIDNAPPING AFFAIR .- In our issue of yesterday it was mentioned that two men had been kidnapped and carried off on the ship Winthrop. These men were not natives of the city, as some inferred, but were from the North, and, though carried on board of the ship as stated, they were not kidnapped, for they had regularly shipped and then refused to go on board. Cap. tain McDonald, the pilot, informs us that he brought no letter from any one on the ship.

THE LAST OF THE CHARLESTON GRAMPUS .-Many of our readers will remember the big fish that was caught near here last December, and was kept on exhibition for several days. Since then, its owners have been exhibiting it around the country. At Columbus, Ga., last week, the monster fell into the hands of a constable, who sold its skin for one dollar and a half. Mr. Noble, of Savannah, subsequently bought it for fifteen dollars, and it will soon be on exhibition at his Broughton street Museum of Natural Curiosities.

PALM SUNDAY AND HOLY WEEK .- To-morrow is Palm Sunday, the commencement of what s known as Holy or Passion Week, during which is commemorated the sufferings and death of the Saviour of the world. From very remote times the seven days immediately preceding the anniversary of the resurrection of Christ, have been set apart by the church as a season of peculiar solemnity, to be observed by acts of penitence, devotion, fasting and prayer. On Palm Sunday, the Catholic Church celebrates the triumphant entry of Christ into Jerusalem, when the fickle multitude greeted him with shouts of "hosanna," and the waving of palms. In Catholic countries on this day, palms are blessed, distributed and carried in procession through the streets and along the roads, but in this country the clergy and those who serve at the altar only join in the procession along the aisles of the church, and distribute the blessed palms to the worshipping con gregation. The ceremony of blessing the palms is commenced by singing "Hosanna in Excelsis." prayer, asking that the fruits of the passion of our Lord may descend upon the faithful, is then offered: after which, the priest, assisted by the sub-deacon, sings a portion of the collects and lessons of the day. The palms are sprinkled with holy water and fumed with incense, and then distributed to the clergy and laity, who receive them kneeling, while an appropriate anthem is sung by the choir. In the Episcopal and Anglican churches the practice of blessing paims has fallen into disuse but the term "Palm Sunday," and the events it commemorates, continue to be associated together. During the week which this day prefaces, Christians are called upon to enter seriously into themselves, to exclude all thoughts of worldly things, and to meditate upon the end of the great mysteries they are required to commemorate. To this end the ceremonies are of the most solemn and imposing character, and the prayers and lessons are such as to excite humility and repentance in the breasts of those who are devoutly in

AMUSEMENTS.

The School for Scandal. The crowning performance of the present dramatic season was the comedy of The School for Scandal, as produced last evening at the Académy o' Music. The sparkling wit of this masterpiece of Sheridan's dramatic genius might well cover a deal of indifferent acting; but it is simple justice to Miss Keene and her company to say that the play, taken as a whole, was one of which Charleston would not have been ashamed, even in the palmy old times, when her people were as rich and prosperous as they are discriminating and cultivated, and when her stage was the acknowledged dramatic centre of the continent. Of course, the features of the performance were the Lady Teazle of Miss Keene, the Charles Surface of Mr. Mordaunt, and the Joseph Surface of Mr. Stuart. The style in which these three parts were acted was simply beyond praise. Mr. Wallis played Sir Peter capitally; and we must say that the Sir Oliver of Mr. Reed (whose high tragedy has not been always to our taste) was very well done indeed. The whole cast, in fact, was an excellent one; and the dresses of the several characters was quite rich and elaborate. The house was well filled, and never was play received with heartier zest. For the last two performances of the season we are to have to-day at the matinee Goldsmith's American Cousin. The company appears in Sa-

NEWSPAPER STATEMENTS-HOW THE PEOPLE TEST THEIR TRUTH .- This is not an age when people believe on trust whatever they see in the public journals. Fifty or sixty years ago, when the accuracy of a statement that had appeared in one of the gazettes or "News Letters" of the day was questioned, it was considered a sufficient answer to all cavil to say, " It must be so, for I read it in the newspaper." It is not so now. Newspaper assertions must be verified before they are taken for granted, and this is especially the case as regards statements setting forth the remedial properties of proprietary medicines. For example: It was not until the tonic and alterative properties of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS had been deliberately and thoroughly tested by thousands, and found to be in perfect accord with the printed claims put forth in its behalf, that it was accepted by the public at large as a STANDARD REMEDY. But when multitudes who had resorted to it as a safeguard against malarious fevers, a cure for indigestion and billousness, a means of strengthening the frame, cheering the spirit and imparting constitutional vigor, came forward and testified that its beneficial effects had exceeded their most sanguine expectations, of course the world believed. To resist such proofs was impossible. Great care has been taken from the beginning not to overstate the merits of the Ritters. Exaggeration and bombast have been the death of many preparations that might otherwise have survived. They were "weighed in the balance and found wanting." HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, on the contrary, have never been announced in grandiloquent language as a cure for every bodily ill, but simply as a pure, harmless vegetable specific, possessing remarkable invigorating, regulating, anti-billous and antiseptic properties. This is exactly what the public know the medicine to be, and its enormous sales is an argument in its favor.
